Journal on English as a Foreign Language (JEFL) is biannual publication issued in the month of March and September touching the ground of teaching and learning English as a foreign language. The Journal connects the daily concern of practitioners with insights from applied linguistics, literature and related academic disciplines. The contents include research reports, well-conceived analysis, theory application, material development, book reviews, and pedagogy.

The aim of JEFL is to disseminate theories of language acquisition in the context of EFL and their implementation to improve quality of teaching and learning process.
